CREATING A SURREALIST WORLD THROUGH DIGITAL ART & MEDIA PROGRAM WITH ALLIANNAH HAMILTON

In the Digital Canvas program, students identified a meaningful cause they are passionate about changing in the world. They employed this cause as the foundation for their final projects, drawing inspiration from the surrealism art movement and applying it to digital media practices. Throughout the program, participants delved into the surrealism art movement, leveraging its exploration of the inner psyche to inform their creative endeavors. The curriculum encompassed a wide range of skills and tools, including Adobe Photoshop, Adobe Premiere Pro, stop motion, video recording, photography, image manipulation, animation, sound design, and writing.

Concluding this program, all students created a 30sec - 1min experimental video art project which exhibits at ART180 on February 2, 2024 during First Fridays in Richmond, VA.
